

Moving Beyond RRS - Streaming

Discussion created by Ethan Mings on 6/21/2009 9:41 PM

Ethan Mings

Posted by Ethan Mings on 6/21/2009 9:41 PM

One more information item mention from last week. I really enjoy RSS as a great tool to reduce e-mail and provide a method to keep up on a lot of information in an organized manner. It also is a very valuable tool for virtual teams in order to keep things organized and the group engaged.

Well, RSS is moving to the next generation. Streaming is the next step. It's still early, however, here is a nice link to some information on streaming.

TechCrunch

<http://www.techcrunch.com/2009/05/17/jump-into-the-stream/>

Quote:

This real-time stream has been building for a while. It began with RSS, but is now so much stronger and swifter, encompassing not just periodic news and musings but constant communication, status updates, instantly shared thoughts, photos, and videos.

Happy reading.